GERMAN ARMY IN 26 MILES OF BRUSSELS

THINK WATERLOO WILL AGAIN BE THE SCENE OF A GREAT CONFLICT

London, Aug. 14—Smashing its way steadily forward and overwhelming by sheer weight the opposition in its path, the German war machine is slowly but surely moving into the greatest battle in world history. Several preliminary skirmishes have been fought already with Belgians, but the main battle will be with French and English allies and it is expected Belgium will be completely crushed before the gigantic engagement takes place.

Censors conceal the real facts but it is believed that the French and English armies are in the vicinity of Waterloo and that the famous battlefield will again be the scene of a great conflict.

Reports of heavy skirmishing between Austrians, Germans and Russians indicate huge eastern armies will soon be in the death grip despite desperate defense of the Belgians, Germans are now threatening Brussels and Antwerp.

BELIEVE THAT JAPAN IS PREPARING FOR WAR

Tokio, Aug. 14—There is every indication today that Japan is preparing to declare war on Germany and will take such steps as soon as high officials' long dispatches are her share of the spoils is definitely being exchanged with England.

NEW YORK'S POOR ARE ON THE VERGE OF STARVATION

New York, Aug. 14—A large portion of New York's poor on the East Side are on the verge of starvation because the commonest necessities have risen beyond reach. Commissioner of Weights and Measures Hartigan has just finished an investigation and says conditions are pitiful.

Poor classes are trying to live on one meal a day. Even this meagre supply of food is of the most inferior sort. The Commissioner says advances are due to food pirates and are without excuse. An appeal was made to Mayor Mitchell to take strenuous action.

REPORTS OF GERMAN DISASTERS ARE UNFOUNDED

MEN WHO ARE DIRECTING THE FIGHTING IN EUROPE

Special Despatch by the International News Service

London, Aug. 14—In this, the greatest and costliest war in the world's history, every one of the five powers already involved has placed at the heads of its fighting forces the best men available. Each ruler drawn into the titanic struggle realizes that his government is in the throes of its supreme crisis and for that reason army and navy commanders were changed without regard for precedent and cabinets were shifted overnight.

The rulers and commanders now directing the various belligerents follow:

ENGLAND

Ruler, King, George V.
Secretary of State for War, Lord Marshall.
Chief Naval Commander, Admiral Sir John Jellicoe.

First Lord of the Admiralty, Winston Churchill.

Commander in Chief of the Land Forces, Field Marshal Sir John French.

Chief Naval Commander, Vice Admiral Sir John Jellicoe.

King, George of England is nominally the head of the British army and navy but he is taking no active part in the war.

The Prince of Wales was given a military commission in the army, but has not been allowed to participate in any fighting.

FRANCE

Ruler, President Raymond Poincaré.

War Minister, Thophile Delcasse, former special ambassador to Russia and a bitter enemy of Germany.

Generalissimo of the Army, General Joffre.

Chief Naval Commander, Admiral de la Peyrolle.

As in England, the French ruler is technically the head of the fighting forces but President Poincaré will take no active part in the war.

GERMANY

Ruler, Kaiser Wilhelm II, who is nominally always and in time of war actually in command of the army and navy.

Minister of War, General Von Falkenhayn.

Minister of the Navy, Admiral Von Tirpitz.

Chief of Staff of the Army, Count Julius von Moltke.

Chief Naval Commander, Admiral von Tirpitz.

In war, the Kaiser, unlike the King of England, is the real head of his army. At the present time the Kaiser is reported to be at the front in Alsace, directing operations against the French Crown Prince Frederick Wilhelm commanded one of the German regiments at Liege.

RUSSIA

Ruler, Czar Nicholas, nominally commander in chief of the army.

Minister of War, General Sukhomlinoff.

Minister of Marine, Admiral Grigorovich.

Generalissimo of the Army, Grand Duke Nicholas Nikolaevitch.

Chief Naval Commander, Admiral

As in the case of Germany, Czar Nicholas becomes the real head of the Russian army in time of war.

he has said he would take the field in the operations against Germany. Grand Duke Nicholas, as Generalissimo is now directing the Russian army in the field while Gen. Sukhomlinoff, as War Minister, is directing affairs at St. Petersburg.

AUSTRIA-HUNGARY

Ruler, Emperor Francis Joseph, who is commander in chief of the army.

Minister of War, Ritter von Krobatin.

Minister of the Navy, Admiral Habsburg.

Heads of the Army, Archduke Frederick, commander in chief and General Von Hotzendorf, chief of the general staff.

Chief Naval Commander, Admiral Habsburg.

The aged Emperor Francis Joseph, as in Germany and Russia, is the head of the Austrian army but he is no old and feeble. He delegated his task to Archduke Frederick.

SERBIA

Ruler, King Peter, nominal commander in chief of the army.

Actual commander in chief of the army, Gen. Rado Yankovitch.

Perhaps the best known chief of the great international war drama is Field Marshal Lord Kitchener of Khartoum, War Secretary of England, while it is safe to say the least known commander in Gen. Joffre, Generalissimo of France. He is the youngest officer of his rank in the French service and is indebted for his position at the head of the army not to intrigue or political influence but to the unanimous vote of the French General who composed the Superior Council of War.

General Joffre is now at the front and when the French mobilization, now under way is completed he will have under him more than 4,000,000 officers and men ready to obey his bidding.

General Sukomlinoff, who finds himself as one of the heads of the Russian army in the great war is comparatively unknown. He served in neither the Chinese nor Japanese wars being at that time commander at Kiev and chiefly concerned with strategic work on the western frontier.

Unlike most of his predecessors in the war office at St. Petersburg, he is a Slav and a Russian Nationalist. He was called to the Russian cabinet by the Czar to reorganize the army.

Count Julius von Moltke, chief of the general staff of the German army and by reason of that position next to the Kaiser in the war, is the nephew of the great Field Marshal Von Moltke. As his uncle was noted for his silence, the present Count Von Moltke is chiefly known for his seriousness. He never smiles and is generally known as "Gloomy Julius."

Archduke Frederick, to whom his uncle, Emperor Francis Joseph has confided the command of the army

LORD KITCHENER EXPECTS WAR TO LAST EIGHTEEN MONTHS

London, Aug. 14—Lord Kitchener, Secretary of War, asked by a fellow diner last night how long he expected the war to last, replied: "Eighteen months."

les of Austria-Hungary, is the eldest brother of the Queen Mother of Spain and a grandson of that Grand duke Charles who was one of the heroes of the Napoleonic wars. Two other archdukes who are called upon to play important parts in the big war are Archduke Leopold Salvator, Inspector General of Austria-Hungarian artillery and Archduke Eugene, who is in chief command of the Landwehr of Austria and Hungary.

Power Company Files Incorporation Papers

R. D. Crawford is president of the company, Demot Shemwell, vice president and J. E. Fox, secretary-treasurer. The principal office will be Columbia, Ala.

HEAT WAVE IN PARIS.

Paris, Aug. 14—France is sweltering under a heat wave. Cases of sun stroke were reported today. Long lines of women throughout the day stood outside the offices where information regarding soldiers in the field were given out, seeking to learn how the heat was affecting their husbands or sons, dressed in their thick uniforms and carrying heavy war packets.

TO ILLUMINATE CLOCK.

The County Commissioners have authorized the installation of six tubes at the clock house for the illumination of the county clock dial, which is convenient in day time, but worthless at night as it now is.

Now For Commission Government

The time has arrived for Dothan to get the commission form of government. The preliminary steps toward getting this desirable system of conducting the town's affairs are easy. Just get the names of seventy-five legal Dothan voters signed to a petition and present to the Probate Judge. This petition authorizes him to call an election to determine if the people want commission government.

As to commission government carrying at the first election is another matter, but many think it would, so if we are ever to have it a start should be made now.

The first set of commissioners, one of whom must be the present mayor, are appointed by the governor, after that they are elected, one each year by the people.

And a good feature of the law is

Notwithstanding the fact that the European war situation is uppermost in the minds of most people, many farmers are evincing unusual interest in hog raising, and more attention will no doubt be paid this industry next year than ever before in this section.

That splendid hog can be raised in Southeast Alabama, is well known among farmers and those who have made the effort, even upon a small scale. The Chamber of Commerce will lend its support to this important work. Secretary Cobb would be glad to hear from any persons interested in the movement.

El Paso, Tex., Aug. 13—Former United States Senator Joseph W. Bailey will be a candidate for the nomination as United States senator in 1916, according to his announcement at the democratic state convention here today.

THE WAY WE LIVE.

Springfield, (Tenn.) Herald.

Did you know that the articles which go to make up your home represent almost every State in the Union. They do. The average citizen imagines that he lives at home, but he does not. He gets up in the morning and puts on his socks made in New York, shoes in Boston and pants made in Ohio. He dips some water from a Missouri bucket with a Chicago dipper and puts it in an Indiana washpan and washes his face with a cake of St. Louis soap. He dries his face with a Rhode Island towel and reaches his hair with a Vermont comb. He takes Cuban coffee in an Indiana cup and saucer, sweetened with New Orleans sugar and stirred with a New York spoon. His knife, fork and plate are made in the north, and his table cloth dits. He eats a piece of Chicago ham fried in Kansas lard, sops his St. Louis bread seasoned with Boston soda and Michigan salt into Louisiana molasses. He wipes his mouth on a Vermont napkin and seats his family around a Michigan table in chairs from the same State. His meal was cooked on a St. Louis stove, with wood cut with a Pittsburgh ax and hauled in an Indiana wagon. Then the citizen puts a Boston saddle on a Missouri mule and gets out his plow and works in the field encumbered possibly with a New Jersey mortgage. He returns at night and undresses his appetite with another important meal. His Indiana lamp with Pennsylvania oil and lights it with a New York match. He then fills his Missouri pipe with North Carolina tobacco and settles down in a northern chair. When bedtime comes he takes down the Bible, which was printed in Massachusetts, reads a chapter composed in Jerusalem, then retires to bed, sleeps under imported covers and is kept awake two long hours by the howls of his cats, which are the only home products he has on his farm.

OUR FLAG.

By the Rev. G. L. Merrill, in the Fra.

Old Glory is the symbol of the America it represents. It floats over the cradles of the living and the graves of the dead; it is the most beautiful banner the winds of heaven ever kissed; on its ample folds are emblazoned the words of Webster's heart, "Liberty and Union, now and forever, one and inseparable."

It was prophetic that our flag's design was found in the Stars and Stripes on the Coat of Arms of Washington's family. Betsy Ross of Philadelphia has the proud honor of making the first American flag. Gallant Paul Jones raised the glorious Ensign over his vessel; August Sixth, Seventeen Hundred Seventy-seven, the Stars and Stripes were unfurled over the captured British colors of Fort Mifflin.

The flag is immortal in story and in song. At the Revolution it was the swaddling-clothes of the infant nation when it lay cradled in the lap of liberty. During the rebellion, it was a rainbow spanning North and South declaring Liberty, Equality and Fraternity. In the Spanish War it was the cherubim with outstretched wings of protection. Today, as in a former Mexican war, it is an eagle which plumes its wings and soars through cloud and above storm.

God made and breathed His blessings on our flag as it floats on sea and land, for home, church and country. It stands for liberty, honor, bravery and duty. Compared with the flags of despotism, in other lands, it is like a flower in the wilderness, a star in the night and life in death.

Our youth do well to observe flag-day. The foundation and defense of our nation is the public school. Its insignia is not a cross or a crescent, but a flag. There is no sweeter school exercise than that which says: "I give my head, heart and hand to God and my country. One country, one language and one flag." Amen shouts the sea, roar the rocks, shines the sun and echoes the earth.

Old Glory realizes Cavour's idea of a "free state and a free church." Its stars and stripes claim protection for all, be they rich or poor, wise or ignorant, red or white and whether they worship Christ, Confucius, Jehovah or Buddha. The test of American citizenship is loyalty to the flag, which now as in Washington's time represents a religion which gave us a Christian nation; education which gave us the public school system; liberty which grew into the Declaration of Independence; and patriotism which fought for American institutions.

America is founded on granite, domed by the sky, lit by the stars and bounded by the sea. God planned the discovery of this land with its room and resources and protected our fathers in their institutions of civil and religious liberty that we might be the refuge for the world's oppressed. The blood of all the world is with us. We are "heirs of all the ages in the foremost files of time."

MOVEMENT.

From the Philadelphia Record.
It was born in Ohio. There was a camp meeting origin. Rev. Dr. John Vincent inspired it. He was of the Methodist Episcopal faith. He was aided by Lewis Miller, wife of Aaron. Both were very active Sunday School workers. A summer resort for Sunday School workers was evolved. They felt the need of a vacation place for both work and recreation. Mr. Miller suggested the utilization of the Methodist camp meeting idea.

Presently the Sunday School camp meeting at Fair Point developed many departments. Lectures were soon being delivered on various subjects, scientific and otherwise. It grew to be a sort of summer university, really an advanced school of specialists.

In the early days there was an annual convocation of two weeks; now it is a matter of two months. In late years Chautauqua assemblies, many of them rivaling the parent assembly in size and the scope of their work, have been established in every section of the country.

SPORTS

My Frank G. Menke.
New York, August 14.—The rank and file of fans are hoping that the next world series combat won't be between the Giants and Athletics. They have grown a bit tired of seeing these two clubs fight it out in the October haze and they are pulling for some other club to "horn into" the big doings.

If the Cubs and Athletics had another World Series dual, or the Giants and the Tigers, or Giants and Red Sox, fandom would be somewhat satisfied. But the great mass of fans would rather see the Red Sox and Cubs, or the Tigers and Cubs, than to see either of the teams that battled last year in action again this year.

The reason for this is that in the case of a series between the Giants and Athletics, the fans take it as a foregone conclusion that the Athletics will again conquer. It's sort of an old story repeated—and they want to hear a new one. They had rather see two totally different teams in action.

The wise ball player is the one who will cease immediately in trying to work both ends against the middle. He'll sign up a contract right now, with the organization that offers him the very best terms. It won't be a good plan for him to remain on the outside, trying to get the rival league to bid up a little higher for his services.

Signs of baseball peace are abroad in the land, according to those who claim to be on the inside. Both factions are tired of war that has given no one but the players the best of it. If they decide suddenly to get together, the unsigned ball player who has been holding out for the magnates to bid higher for his services, will arise some A. M. and discover that all the world is sad and dreary. There'll be only one thing left for him to do—to sign up at any old salary that he can get.

AND you can bet on it that if the American, National and Federal Leagues form a Triple Alliance, they will see to it that the ball player WHO HASN'T any contract for 1915 will get one—the said contract calling for about six kopecks a month.

Fandom asks just what would happen in case the Feds and Organized Baseball do get together.

"Will they keep the three leagues intact, or will they form two twelve club leagues?"
Such a question is one that only the baseball leaders can answer. The baseball critics seem to think that two twelve club circuits would be far better than three eight club leagues, but some of the big baseball leaders say that such a plan would not be feasible.

The Federal League circuit would have to be changed somewhat in 1915 if it went into Organized Baseball. Three major league teams cannot make a profit if housed in one town. At least, not for several years to come. This would mean—in case there is an amalgamation—that the Feds would withdraw their clubs from St. Louis and Chicago, shifting the franchise probably to Cleveland and Detroit.

Kansas City is not a baseball town, and whether the Feds paddle their own canoe next year, or whether they assist in propelling the Organized craft, it seems certain that the town will be dropped from the circuit and the franchise shifted to some other city. Indianapolis has been something of a disappointment to the Federal League officials and it is possible that the franchise will be transferred from that city to Cincinnati next year, whether the Feds are in or out of Organized Baseball.

"Gets-It" for Corns Sure as Sunrise

New Plan. (Corns Shaved, Vanish.)
Until "GETS-IT" was born no body was ever sure of getting rid of a corn. Corn treatments nearly all contained the same ingredients, only some were liquid, some plaster, some "wrappers" and some in salve form. Now comes "GETS-IT."

There's no more need of fustling with corns, no more digging or cutting. There's nothing to press down on the corn, nothing to inflame the flesh, to "pull" the corn or cause pain. Put two drops of "GETS-IT" on in two seconds. That's all. For any corn, callus, wart or bunion.

"GETS-IT" is sold by druggists everywhere, 25c a bottle or sent direct by E. Lawrence & Co., Chicago, Ill.

MODERN LOVE.

This love is just a fashion, changing every year;
Beauty, ruling passion, adorned with doubt and fear,
This love is seldom lasting, causing vows to break;
But Cupid still is blasting many hearts to ache,
This love is vastly ruling today's greatest men;
As well as foolish fooling the other sex—now then,
Why be ye in fashion—to encourage this silly style;
Drive on this foolish passion, and give old love a trial.
Love shouldn't thrive through springtime,
And die out in the fall;
Love should live the whole year out,
Or never exist at all.
—By Ora Hamrick Fletcher.

INTERESTING DATA

CONCERNING D. A. R.—

One of the most important of the patriotic societies for women is the Daughters of the American Revolution, whose membership of many thousand women, claiming descent from heroes of the War of the Revolution, extend into almost every State and territory in the Union. The society was founded in the city of Washington, D. C., October 11, 1890, by Mrs. Mary L. Lockwood, Mrs. Ellen Hardin Walworth, Miss Eugenia Washington and Miss Mary Deane. The first meeting was held on the anniversary of the discovery of America. The late Mrs. Benjamin Harrison, wife of the chief executive, was unanimously elected president general. The growth of this society was phenomenal. The end of the first year witnessed an enrollment of 800 members. In the recent report of the present report, she says in part: "From its founders this society has grown in the 22 years of its existence by leaps and bounds to a gigantic admitted membership of 102,461 with an active membership of 79,075. It is interesting to know that among these enrolled are 726 real daughters of patriots men and women, who were in the struggle for independence. There are still borne on the rolls 25 of these real daughters closely linking us to the formative period of this great republic. A monthly pension of $8 is paid to 44 of these dear old ladies."

The most conspicuous work of the D. A. R. is the Continental Memorial hall at Washington. This imposing building of purest white marble is a monument built solely by women in honor of women as well as men. It is so constructed as to provide for a great museum of genuine Revolutionary relics, a large auditorium in which to hold the annual D. A. R. congress and reception parlors and numerous other rooms necessary for the work of the society.

The work among the children has been the most successful and many thousands of young people belong to the Children of the American Revolution and the Children and Sons of the Republic.

The insignia of the society is the wheel and distaff, suggestive of the early history of our nation; the motto "Home and Country."
